

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A display system, method for assembling a display system, and method for vending a display system are provided. The display system has a display, a write-once solid-state memory with image content stored in the write-once memory, and a display controller adapted to read the write-once memory and to cause the display to present the image content.

5